Sky Force Reloaded is a tactical action-shooter with a more tactical approach to combat in a third-person view. The game features many stylish action sequences from the classic space shoot 'em ups with a story of mercenaries who have to recover some of their space ships. The game was developed as a project of the team at Recoil Games. Gameplay Story: Over a period of 10 years the mercenaries have made their way to important event area at the edge of known galaxy. There they have to fight against alien race - Gangsters. They had something that is important to them - smaller fast space ships. To get them they have to do a series of dangerous missions and help their space friends. Here it is very important that they will fight against gangsters in tactical missions, trying to achieve teamwork and be more efficient. You can shoot at enemies, throw grenades and also activate your armor. If you will get too many damage - the armor will disconnect from you and you will have to start the mission again. The game is also very tactical, because you have to make plans ahead of the fights and think through all scenarios.

Gameplay Features: Like all other Recoil Games series, Sky Force Reloaded also has a large variety of level variants in 10 Chapters, which makes it hard to learn the game from the beginning. The game features an original soundtrack made by Jacek Dojwa of Mondroid Games fame. At the beginning the game has a tutorial and an introduction campaign. After that you have 4 missions at the main scenario. After that you have 3 end game campaigns and 5 arcade missions. The main campaign is linear, with scenario transitions and branching at the end of each campaign.

Completely customizable controls. Handicap accessibility is covered by introducing adaptable game modes.

Game Page: Hello guys! Finally, the results from the testing of my game :) The game is very simple. The aim is to kill a lot of players for quite a long time. And to do this you'll have to destroy your enemies. Along the way, you will be able to collect items, and you can even find a weapon. Let's start, shall we? This gaming project is about what we want to be in the future- fearless warriors and masters of the universe. The player plays from the perspective of the male. The game is divided into sectors. Each sector has an objective. The objectives are: to destroy your opponents, to collect items and money, to increase your points and to survive. The story of the game is the fictional history of the Earth. It is based on facts that we know, but there are many more things still unknown. Besides the fact that we were created by our creators, we don't know anything about it. The earth was formerly populated by the humans, but almost every part of the planet is uninhabited. Many of the survivors established colonies in space. How many of you have heard of UFOs? How many of you know that they always appeared in the same places? How many of you know that the world was created by aliens? Description: This game is a realistic simulation of a nuclear war. Your job is to survive and take revenge on your opponents. This game is very realistic because the nuclear bomb is actually simulated. You will face serious obstacles: radiation, hunger, hostile people, etc. You'll meet anti-nuclear weapons and anti-military organizations that are working to prevent the disaster that you are facing. Your weapons, your movements, your courage-these will be your weapons against the enemy! The possibility to destroy the planet, and everything that lives on it-it's the ultimate destruction! How about the fact that the country's economy and infrastructure will collapse! Also, you will face fires caused by the bombing. A gameplay with many surprises and interesting situations! The game is very addictive! The simulation of the nuclear bomb is accurate! It's a challenge that doesn't end! We are grateful to all our supporters who helped us with the project! The game has been created in the game The Interplanetary- RPGEEngine for the Game Far Cry Storyline in Southern Africa From Cape Town to Victoria Falls to Kruger. Treks, highlands and plains. Camp safaris and lodge on game reserves. Read our African safari experts' top picks for the best safari roads and the best African wildlife parks. Then, make your choice and enjoy the adventures of a lifetime in the wilds of Africa. With over 105 national parks and wildlife reserves across 6 South African provinces, you'll be spoilt for choice, but we have compiled safari recommendations from respected travel writers, editors and suppliers that give you the inside track on places to visit. Look up your region in the top right-hand corner of this page. African safari destinations Spend one week in Kruger National Park (affectionately known as "the Big Five park"), Botswana's largest wildlife reserve. It might be long on parks, and as close as you can get to the "Big Five" (lion, leopard, elephant, rhino and buffalo) in one place, but it's still part of a wilderness region, and full of crocodiles, lions, giraffes, hippos, many bird species, jackals and antelope. The investment? Photographing Africa's big animals from the heart of Africa is not for the faint-hearted, but if you're game for the challenge, there's no better place. South Africa and Namibia's two largest national parks - Kruger in South Africa, and Etosha, with similar wildlife (buffalo, elephant, lion, leopard, rhinoceros and springbok) in Namibia - form one of Africa's greatest parks. Scattered with natural wonders, it stretches to the horizon (more like a mile-deep valley, in reality), meaning that despite its size, the wildlife is as close as you'll get. Local travel operators and camps also offer private safaris in these areas. Safari in South Africa Once a simple game tourism destination, South Africa is rivalled by the rest of Africa now. The country has attracted travellers looking for romantic and tranquil getaways, plus wildlife parks of every kind, which will satisfy even the most hardcore of wildlife buffs. With a minimum 20 days away from city life (and four months in total from Cape Town to Victoria Falls, depending on the duration of your safari), these are the top South African safari destinations.
