Q: Spring 5 JpaRepository subquery with multiple where clause I need to do a subquery in JPARepository which has multiple where clauses. I have following query: select u from User u where (select count() from ApiMetadata a where a.userId = u.id and a.type = 1) > 2 and u.userId in (select user_id from Ingredient where ingredient_id = ${ingredient_id}) I can do this simple query as: @Query(value = "select u from User u where (select count() from Ingredient i where i.user_id = u.id and i.ingredient_type = 1) > 2 and u.userId in (select user_id from Ingredient where ingredient_id =?0)", nativeQuery = true) public Page findInList(Pageable pageable); But how to do this in JPARepository? The query should be in subquery format. How can I do this with JPARepository? A: I have done this by adding @Query annotation for subquery at Repository level. In this example, the status field will be annotated with @Param annotation. This field has a list of values. These values will be populated from subquery. Sample code: List users = repository.findAll(new Query() .where(new Predicate() .and(new Predicate() .like("status", "%{status:}%") .or(new Predicate()

Q: Is there a way to target all the span elements with one class name? I have a site that I'm in the process of styling and the site is currently being built in Wordpress using twenty twelve, so all of the HTML tags are built this way. When looking at the site's style.css file I'm seeing some styles being applied to some elements with a specific class name, I'm assuming this is because of some kind of inheritance coming in from the theme. I want to know if there is a way that I can target any span element that has a class name of selector_1234567 with only one line of code without having to look at each span element individually. I've seen a question posted about this here: Gaining access to style attributes in JQuery However this doesn't specifically target span elements. Here's some examples of what I'm trying to accomplish: Link: .selector_1234567{ /This is a style I want applied to the span that has the selector class name/ } Link: .selector_1234567{ /This is a style I want applied to the span that has the selector class name/ } It's probably going to be the case that all of my span elements have the class selector_1234567, but could just as easily have a different one. Thanks so much! A: Here's a better solution. $('.selector_1234567').each(function(){ // }); . $('.selector_1234567').each(function(){ // }); Prevalence of acromegaly in North Indian adults. The objectives of this study were to assess the prevalence of acromegaly in the Indian adult population and to evaluate the importance of clinical and biochemical features to detect the disease. In a study period of 1 year, 300 consecutive patients (100 men and 200 women) with growth hormone (GH) levels in excess of 0.45 IU/l were evaluated for acromegaly using the revised criteria of the National Acromegaly Committee. No patient with GH levels
