Q: Why is my index not working in my jquery /javascript file? I am working on a small website and I am trying to display certain links with the index in the title. Here is my code in the head of my HTML file: Basics: The index is displaying correctly in the title tag, but when I click one of the links it takes me to page 1. The index is supposed to display in the title when you click one of the links. Here is my js file for the links and the index: `$(".first").click(function() { $("#pageTitle").html('Start'); }); $(".second").click(function() { $("#pageTitle").html('Start: Second'); }); $(".third").click(function() { $("#pageTitle").html('Start: Third'); });` Here is my index: A: Do you mean the title should show as: Start | first | second | third and not just: Start If you are looking to create that then you will need a blank tag before the div and then you can use: and you can also use `append()`: `$(".index").appendTo('#pageTitle');` then you can use: `$(".index").click(function() { $("#pageTitle").html($(this).text() ); });` The overall objective of the proposed studies is to characterize the regulation of brain 5-HT and
